Each player has a built-in bank, a "Starting Bank" which allows them to add to it and a "Play Bank" which is temporarily available for use during the game. There are four types of balls, A, B, C, D, available for play. Each ball has a different value and has its own specific characteristics. The first player to play a ball of their type on the other's court wins a game. In Top Spin 2, which was released in 2008, the movement and tactics of the player and their opponent are controlled by advanced graphics technology. A more realistic physics engine uses the Allegro framework to create a high level game-engine. The graphics have been upgraded to include a higher resolution and a more detailed texture map. The player can also create their own avatar. For Top Spin 3, the movement and tactics are controlled using a new physics-based model, while the graphics have been improved, and the game-engine has been expanded to allow more game modes. Top Spin 4 was released on 27 October 2012, and is a hybrid of Top Spin 2 and 3, with the graphics being more detailed than Top Spin 2 and the gameplay more advanced than Top Spin 3. Reception A January 2004 review for Next Generation of PC gaming magazine by Gary Trainor, stated that Top Spin "makes for one of the most entertaining and original tennis simulations to hit the PC yet." The game's best feature is its physics, which delivers an "extremely realistic" tennis experience. The reviewers also noted the voice and animation quality, which are "consistently good" and the graphics, which is good enough to satisfy most players.
